FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

QUÉBEC, Qc, October 1, 2019/ - PG Solutions Inc. (« PG Solutions »), a proprietary subsidiary of N. Harris Computer Corporation, announced today that it acquired Logilys Inc. (Logilys), a supplier and distributor of the software solutions Prodon, Proloc and Prolys. Prodon, a donation and doner management software, Proloc, a leisure, sports and culture management software and Prolys, a project management and customer relationship management software become complementary software products within the PG Solutions product portfolio.

By joining the PG Solutions software family, Logilys customers will now join the more than 1000 PG Solutions customers and the more than 40,000 North American Harris customers.

“Logilys’ growth potential, market reach, customer base and the quality of its staff were important factors in this transaction. PG Solutions welcomes all Logilys employees and is committed to continuing business relationships with all its customers” said PG Solutions Senior Executive Vice President, Natasha Villeneuve.

Pierre Brochu, President and co-founder of Logilys, will continue to play an important role in the company. He says: "For an organization to be effective, it needs information processing systems that ensure the reliability of its business processes and simplify its day-to-day operations. Improving the lives of our customers is our passion and we are particularly pleased to have found a strong and recognized business partner to give our company the means to achieve its ambitions and continue to simplify the management process of our customers. PG Solutions becomes our strategic partner in achieving and exceeding our objectives. "

Logilys hereby becomes a wholly owned subsidiary of PG Solutions. The priority is, and always will be, to offer unparalleled products and services to customers and support them on a daily basis. Whether it be the customers or loyal collaborators, all will greatly benefit from this new partnership.
